Gibbsboro Resident Larry Schneider Jr Earns Top 12 Spot in World Parkinson Congress Video Competition

Larry Schneider Jr., recently used his production talents to earn a coveted top twelve spot in the prestigious World Parkinson Congress (WPC) 2013 Video Competition. The contest, which attracted 113 submissions from 18 countries across the world, seeks to raise awareness of Parkinson's disease (PD) and the need for a cure. One of the main purposes of the World Parkinson Congress is to bring people together from all over the world to share similar experiences from their lives with Parkinson's disease. That's why WPC held a video contest, allowing people with Parkinson's to share their personal stories of living with PD. The video competition had over 100 entries from around the globe and a panel of judges chose twelve finalists from the pool of participants. Each video offers a unique, compelling point of view that helps bring awareness to this life-changing disease.

Congratulations Larry!
